SANBAG Launches Twitter Account: @SANBAGnews

As part of San Bernardino Associated Governments' goal of providing timely, accurate information to the communities it serves, SANBAG has launched its own Twitter account: @SANBAGnews.

@SANBAGnews will post relevant information on active transportation construction projects, transit-oriented updates, project development, proposal postings, legislative issues and other San Bernardino County based transportation news.

Commuters can get up-to-the-moment traffic alerts on SANBAG-led projects, as well as shared project alerts from its transportation partners. Tweets will likely include links to the SANBAG website for expanded details on the subject.

SANBAG is the transportation planning agency for the county of San Bernardino and the council of governments made up of representatives from 24 incorporated cities and 5 county supervisors.
