SANBAG and Partners Break Ground on Grade Separation Project for Hunts Lane and UPRR

COLTON/SAN BERNARDINO – San Bernardino Associated Governments (SANBAG), Union Pacific Railroad (UPRR), and cities of Colton and San Bernardino will break ground on the $29 million Hunts Lane Grade Separation Project on Thursday, May 31st at 10:00 a.m.

This major roadway improvement project will include the construction of a new bridge along Hunts Lane as it borders between Colton and San Bernardino just south of Interstate 10. The bridge will span over the Union Pacific Railroad tracks that currently cross at grade and have resulted in significant travel delays for vehicles traveling along Hunts Lane.

The new overpass will include four total traffic lanes, a sidewalk in each direction, and raise the height of Hunts Lane from just south of Riverwood Street to north of Oliver Holmes Road. In addition, new signals will be installed and Club Center Drive will end in a cul-de-sac as it approaches Hunts Lane from the east.

“The Hunts Lane Grade Separation Project is a great example of the role we play at SANBAG,” SANBAG President Larry McCallon said. “Projects like this improve the quality of life for both the commuters and the residents we represent throughout the county of San Bernardino.”

Officials from SANBAG, UPRR, and the two cities will be on hand at the groundbreaking to share comments and participate in a photo opportunity commemorating the kick off of the construction activity. The public is invited to attend.
